Little Hu-Hu-Tu loved Old Hu-Hu very much. But now all that's left is an empty shell. Where did Old Hu-Hu get to? A moving and beautifully illustrated story about losing someone dear.

Kyle Mewburn became a full-time writer six years ago but he has always been a writer of sorts, from long rambling essays at school to writing advertising copy and, to be on the safe side, journalism.

Rachel Driscoll was born in Lower Hutt and has been drawing since she discovered pencils weren't just for chewing on.

"Draw what's in your head," is Rachel's advice for anyone who wants to illustrate.

Kāterina Te Heikōkō Mataira is sometimes known as the 'mother' of Kura Kaupapa Māori, having helped set up the first Māori language immersion school. In 2009, Kāterina received the World Linguapax Award for her lifelong work to revive the Māori language.
